

THE DATE THE EARTH STOOD STILL!

ADVENTURE IDEA

Exit Wound™ is holding Planet Earth for ransom with The MacGuffin™, an extraterrestrial doomsday device that has the potential to destroy the universe. The Stuperheroes seem powerless to stop him, until the Big EW's psychiatrist tells them the source of his anti-social tendencies: poor Exit Wound hasn't had a date since his last girlfriend dumped him twenty years ago. The party needs to locate some random female and convince her to go on a blind date with the sociopathic supervillain in order to save the world (this is even more amusing if the female in question is one of the players)! For the exceptionally sensitive Bad Guy to agree to give up The MacGuffin, the date has to go off without a hitch, which means the players must scramble behind the scenes to correct any social gaffes that may arise (getting flies out of soup, defending the date from her allergy against roses, Cyrano-like coaching) as well as defending the bistro where Exit Wound and his amour are dining from the army of gangsters, spies and minor supervillains who are after The MacGuffin for themselves!

